BOURBON FAIR OPENING

Threatening Weather May Mar the Opening Day of the Exhibition.

EXCELLENT PONY RINGS

Midway Presents An Attractive Appearance and Will Be a Feature.

Facing the weather prediction of local showers with extremely cloudy weather prevailing, the gates of the Bourbon County Fair were thrown open this morning and the sixty-fifth annual exhibition of the Bourbon County Agricultural Society launched.

In spite of the threatening conditions large crowds began to assemble early and unless the rain mars the opening day a record breaking crowd is expected to be on the grounds in the early afternoon.

The opening day being classed as children's and pony day the rings will have the effect of attracting a large number of ladies and little folks. The premises are very attractive and brought out an unusually large number of entries in this class.

The Greater Rock City Amusement company arrived in Paris Sunday and have all of their tents and amusement devices erected on the grounds. The Midway presents an attractive appearance and will no doubt prove quite a feature during the week of the fair.

Through the generosity of the Bourbonites the Rivermen were permitted to break their hoodoo after losing seventeen consecutive games on the home grounds, in the first of the Labor Day series yesterday morning.

Even though the locals presented the game to Shelton and his men in a courtly fashion they declined to accept the chance and clinch the contest until the fifth frame, due to the efforts of a mere schoolboy who was on the mound and shifting up an assortment of benders that were difficult to hit.

To save his pitchers for the championship series with the Hustlers Mc-Kernan enlisted the service of a local pitcher, Clarence Weatherall, and for four frames he had the Rivermen on his hip, displaying a wonderful knowledge of the game and until the fifth had only allowed the Maysville crew three hits and one run.

During the last three rounds of the seven-inning contest Weatherall was wild and the Rivermen hit him frequently, which, coupled with a few misplays, added half a dozen tallies to the score. His performance in the first four innings stamps Weatherall as being a very promising amateur and with more training should be able to hand out a very creditable article of ball.

The locals could not connect with the benders of either Grover or Harris to any degree of success. Maxwell's three-bagger lone in the sixth, which scored Barnett, saved the Bourbonites a complete blanking. The score:

Mrs. Massie's Will Probated.

The last will of Mrs. W. W. Massie was offered for probate in the Bourbon County Court yesterday afternoon.

The will bears the date of February 9, 1910, and is written wholly in the testatrix's own handwriting, the chief provisions of which are as follows:

The income from $1,500 to be used in keeping cemetery lot; Presbyterian church in Paris $2,000; To establish and maintain hospital in Paris, Ky., to be known as the "W. W. Massie Hospital," $10,000 and residence in Paris with the ground adjacent thereto. This bequest with this condition:

"I make this bequest with the proviso that the Hospital being accepted by the town is to be perpetually insured of $5,000 (Five thousand Dollars) and endow it for that amount." of African Missions, $2,000; the cause of Prohibition in Kentucky $5,000; Stillman Institute at Tuscaloosa, Alabama, $2,000; Miss Julia Miller $2,000;

"Madonna," oil portraits of testatrix and her husband to be reframed and hung in hospital; Wm. K. Massie, Lexington, Ky., oil painting "The Aurora," and Mosaic table: Mrs. Ida H. Stoner, Roman Mosaic "Pin's Doves," Mrs. Cassius Clay, statue of a "Nubian Slave," James McClure, hatrack, mahogany chair, two oil paintings, scenes in Yosemite Valley;

Florence Lockhart, set of china; Mrs.
Mattie Hawes, set of china and two china; Mrs. Lizzie H. Miller, Two Oakwood tables, 2 writing desks, 12 dining room chairs and set of furniture. The testatrix, referring to her son, provided as follows:

"I leave no part of my estate to my son, Wm. C. Massie, as his present property exceeds mine in value and at my death his estate will be increased by his father's will. Had he needed it my whole estate without reserve would have been deeded to him.

"I desire my son shall select from my household furniture any articles he may desire, not excepting even such articles as I have donated in the private memorandum entrusted to Mrs.
Florence L. Clay and Mrs. Mattie Hawes, of Millersburg."

Many small items of household furniture and bric-a-brac were entrusted to Mrs. Florence L. Clay and Mrs.
Mattie Hawes to be disposed of according to a written memorandum in the handwriting of testatrix, which was left with her will but was not signed.

These ladies have been authorized by Mr. Wm. C. Massie, the sole heir, by a writing filed in the County Court, to carry out the wishes of his mother, and all of said property will be entrusted to them for that purpose."

No administrator was named in the will, and Wm. C. Massie waived his right to act, Judge Dundon appointing James McClure, who gave bond in the sum of $30,000, signed by Miss Anna C. Thornton, agent of the Bankers' Surety Company.
